Portuguese Surprise Fans By Beating 25th

With "Blondy" Williams Heaving Portuguese Win From the Post Champions—Schofield Players Kick Ball All Over the Diamond, Making Nine Bobs During Afternoon Contest—All-Chinese With Strengthened Lineup Defeat St. Louis Team With Three of Tourists Joining Saints

Chinese 3, St. Louis 1.
Portuguese 9, 25th Infantry 2.
And then the 25th Infantry had to "doze it," said a rooster in the bleachers yesterday afternoon at Athletic park. And said bleacherite evidently had the right dope as the aggregation of players from Schofield, wobbling, and then to make it worse wobbling more, with the accent on the entire array of syllables. The Portuguese collection of all tossers defeated the 25th Infantry team by a score of 9 to 2. Sounds like a new joke. Nevertheless it wasn't such a joke after all.

The 25th Infantry lost for two or three reasons. Firstly, they did not play their type of baseball. During the matinee they featured in the juggling act, and all ball players yesterday afternoon they were good jugglers. Another reason for the defeat was the playing of the Portuguese team with "Blondy" Williams on the mound. The flaxen haired heavy pitcher pitched a good game and full credit must be given to the Portuguese aggregation. They played baseball from start to finish and the fact that the 25th's playing was ragged should not detract from the great work of the Portuguese.

P. A. C. Team Heads Advice.
The Portuguese aggregation have evidently been overhauling some good strong advice. They had been playing poor baseball, and a few naps not them going. They heeded said advice and proceeded to garner a quarter of tallies in the opening stanza. Carroll was passed and Bushnell was safe when Smith tried to drop kick the ball. Costa felled Carroll. Then Filser appeared upon the scene. Filser can hit. And he did on this occasion to right and two P. A. C. men rumped home. Ornelas was passed and then Dixon, the junior partner of Mason and Dixon, hammered a hard one to right and another duo of tallies was chalked down.

That was all the runs that was necessary for the winners. They secured five more off Scott, who was the victim of his team mates' errors. The 25th Infantry tallied two in the ninth, but it was a strange game and the 25th team was like a sieve all afternoon. When they tumbled they tumbled profusely, and after getting the total of nine errors out of their own undisciplined in the next games they will come back with a vengeance.

Travelers Prominent.
The Chinese Travelers were very much in evidence yesterday afternoon in the opener. There were the Mori-yama brothers and Jim Aylett on the Saints' team, and Lai Tin, Ayau and Ah Lee on the Chinese club. Luck Yee was also there at the ball arched. In fact he was so much there that the Saints wished him back in Saucha or some other minor league city in the Chinese Empire. He had a mighty nice partner in Kan Yee, who is a catcher of note. Luck Yee held the Saints to four hits and these were scattered throughout four innings.

Barney Joy was on the hilltop for the Saints and was hammered somewhat by the Chinese amalgamated order of Hit Getters. Ayau, Luck Yee and Kai Luke annexed two apiece and the others broke in on the deal, too. The Chinese scored in the opening canto, when Ayau singled and stole around. Four singles by Kai Luke, Luck Yee, En Sue and Ayau netted

Planning For Next Year

Large Kamehameha squad which will give Captain Booth a number of star players for next year. The Kamehameha players had the necessary weight this season but failed in the speed and open play game. Enough material should be secured from this squad to round out a strong team for next year. The players in the squad this year are: Left to right, standing—A. Husey, W. Kamaha, W. Kaimalosi, W. Ahia, W. Clark, C. Richmond, D. Anahu, Kanui, W. Ios, G. Bertelmann, K. Simeona, Harry Bertelmann. Second row, kneeling—W. Wright, Kuane, C. Kamakau, L. Eaton, H. Sniffen, Godfrey Bertelmann (captain), H. Kikaka, W. Weisley, Sittling, Amasiu, H. Gibson, Peneku, W. Dawer, Kuane, De la Nux, G. Crabbe and Blake.

CLOSE MATCHES IN BASKET-BALL AT ASSOCIATION

Two exciting basket-ball games were played in the Y. M. C. A. intermediate league Saturday night. The Washingtons were ahead of the El Globos 13 to 13 when time was called after one of the fastest games of the season. A mistake on the part of the timekeeper was discovered after the teams had started to dress.

Four minutes are left to play and with the game belonging to anybody, the officials decided to play it over, probably as a curtain raiser to the senior league games December 2. Both teams have a clean record of victories for the season and this game will doubtless decide the championship.

XX-Team Game.
In the second game the Get Ready's and XX Club tied the score at 2 all when the second half ended. Neither team could get away for baskets. A five minute extra period was played and no score was made on account of the close guarding. Still another extra period failed to decide the game. Players on both teams were all in, but had to finish the game. In the third five minute period, Cyril Tinker shot a pretty field goal for the XX and this club won out 4 to 2.

Tomorrow evening the senior league will stage a double-header. The Dormitory and Cosmopolitans will play the first game at 8 o'clock followed by the Washingtons and XX Club. These last two teams should have a warm struggle, as both are still in the running for the championship.

Friday night the club leagues open their season. The P. B. C. meets the H. A. C. in the first game at 8:15. In the second, the Service and Night School Clubs will be the attraction, beginning at 9 o'clock. Altogether it is an attractive program of basketball for the Y. M. C. A. players and fans this week.

ONE-CENT ATHLETICS.

William B. Snow of English High school, Boston, will introduce a novel plan to support athletics at the school. An athletic association will be formed with every boy in the school a member, and the dues will be one cent a week. This nominal fee will amount up quickly, as there are more than 2000 boys in the school.

FOUR HOCKEY TEAMS IN PACIFIC LEAGUE

The four teams which compose the Pacific Coast Hockey League are, the Vancouver Millionaires, holders of the Stanley Cup; the Victoria Aristocrats, the Portland Rosebuds and the Seattle Metropolitans. The season will begin December 7.

Tennis-Players Plan To Crush Trophy Hunting

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Would it help in the development of tennis players if the so-called state and district tournaments were closed to all players save those actually residents of the state or district? This is a question now under discussion by lovers of tennis.

Local players who have neither the time nor skill to get into the limelight at a national, all-comers, invitation or similar tournament which brings the best players of the game together, have, however, a local pride in their club or state title-holder championships that might be within their reach. Because of the attendance of the so-called "mug hunters," local players find themselves deprived of any chance of getting, except in rare instances, any place better than semi-finalists, perhaps.

Why not have the title of Ohio state champion, for instance, mean that holder of the title has actually won it in a "playing through" tournament confined to residents of that state? And that as holder he must defend it in the following year against the best man of that season. Under such conditions, say the advocates of the plan, the state or district title would have a meaning and a value to the holder based on state pride. As it is now a title as champion of Ohio means absolutely nothing except that the holder of the emblematic trophy won it at a "playing through" tournament.

State titles now are a misnomer. One player who loves the sport, but whose business will not permit him to go chasing from coast to coast in search of additional to his collection of silverware, has found from the records of 1914 and the same situation practically holds good this year—that the state championship in singles for New York is held by a Californian, that of Florida by a New Yorker, who also holds the title of champion of Maryland; the Iowa state champion is a resident of Missouri, that of the Carolinas a Texan, and the Washington state champion is a Californian. Another Texan is the champion of Arkansas. A New Yorker holds the championship of Virginia, and a Massachusetts player that of New Hampshire, the first defeating a Georgian for the title and the latter a New Yorker.

California Player Has Ohio Title.
The same California player is the champion of Rhode Island and Ohio, but not of his own state. A Chicago player holds the championship of Michigan, a Washington player that of Idaho. Indiana's champion is a resident of Pennsylvania, New Mexico's is a Texan, Tennessee's a Georgian, defeating a Coloradan in the final, and a Missourian holds the Oklahoma title. A Massachusetts player holds the Maine title, a resident of New Jersey that of Delaware, and one New Yorker is champion of Connecticut, as another is champion of New Jersey, while the championship in women's singles in New Jersey is held by a Connecticut woman.

YES, JOHNSON THOUGHT THIS SAME THING!

NEW YORK—Frank Moran, leading aspirant for the heavyweight championship, believes that Title Holder Jess Willard's chief weakness lies in his ability to assimilate hard body blows. According to Moran a few drives amidships will topple the pugilistic colossus. Jack Johnson made the same prediction just before the famous battle at Manilla. To prove the correctness of his theory he landed blows with the precision and power of a 13-inch shell all along Willard's waistline. The net result was several red spots on the latter's smooth torso.

Kam Plans For Fast Squad In Season of 1916

Now that the interscholastic football season is over, the coach and players are wondering whether or not Punahou will win the championship again next year. For many years the Buff and Blue have been the title-holder, and early this season the wisecracker said that Punahou would fall, but Midget placed a player here and one there, and when the season ended the Punahou colors were at the top.

Kamehameha will have a strong squad next year, and many of the stars of this season will be back next year. Captain Booth will evidently change his plans of campaign, as many of the heavy men on the Kam squad have not shown the disposition to get speed out of their play, and unless this changes next season may see a light backfield working in the interscholastic games.

Punahou will lose Naphana and Correa in the backfield and with these stars out of the game the students at Kamehameha are confident that 1916 will see the Kam team champion. McKinley will lose a number of stars, while Capt. Booth will have a large squad to call upon next season. On the mainland the schools plan a year ahead for a victory and Kam is taking care now that they will be ready when the clash comes next season.

25TH INFANTRY WINS CLOSE ONE FROM TRAVELERS

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
25th INFANTRY, Traveling Chinese 2.
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, November 28.—To show that baseball is not dead at Schofield Barracks more than 1500 fans turned out to see the 25th Infantry whip Lai Tin's crafty travelers Saturday afternoon, and not one but what received triple value for the amount paid for admission.

The tricky Chinese came out with the soldiers, but they were able to gather in but three clean singles from "Big Chief" Waterhouse; even Yamashiro's double was a scratch, three 25th players piling up like a mass play through center in attempting a six-handed catch.

It was hard hitting that won for the 25th, though pretty fielding had much to do with the victory. Kekoa showed a fertile brain when he intentionally passed "Homern" Johnson in the eighth, and then with Kan Yee tricked the soldiers into a predicament that quickly brought to a close what might have been a very tragic inning. It is a conservative statement to make that had the Chinese had the opportunities of their opponents they would have scored at least five or six runs.

However, the 25th feel that they have at least partially vindicated previous defeats, and assure Lai Tin that he will have to go elsewhere than to Hilo (Kekoa hails from Hilo) to find a pitcher that can get the best of their heavy hitters.

A return game has been arranged for next Saturday, to be played in Honolulu.

Mounted Competition Featured at Barracks

Sergeant Joseph M. Patrick of Troop D Wins Event With 98 Per Cent—Lieut. William S. Martin Inaugurates Event That Proves to Be Winner With Spectators—Eighteen Entries Take Mounts Over Twelve Jumps of Modified Stockholm Course

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Nov. 28.—Saturday afternoon a most successful mounted competition was held on the steeplechase course by the 1st Squadron, 4th Cavalry. The competition was one between non-commissioned officers, and no preparation of any kind was allowed, the object being to encourage the men to keep their mounts in condition at all times and ready to enter into any kind of a competition, such as a three-mile steeplechase.

The competition was inaugurated by 1st Lieut. William S. Martin, one of the most enthusiastic horsemen at Schofield. It has always been Lieut. Martin's aim to foster friendly rivalry in horsemanship among the troopers of the regiment, and to encourage them to take an interest in horse training of all kinds. Lieut. Martin is in command of B Troop.

The competition was purely a sporting event and was not hampered by military features or requirements of the cavalry drill regulations. All of the 18 entries took their mounts over the 12 jumps of the modified Stockholm course, which include some pretty stiff ones, and requires an immense amount of skill and riding ability. There were no falls or other mishaps, and in spite of a big baseball game on at the same time a large and enthusiastic crowd turned out to witness the competition.

The winners were:
1st, Sergt. Joseph M. Patrick, Troop D, 98 per cent.
2nd, Sergt. Earl T. Hoge, Troop D, 97 per cent.
3rd, Sergt. P. H. Harmon, Troop C, 95 per cent.
4th, Sergt. William Johnson, Troop C, 94 per cent.

Probably the most interesting part of the competition was the performance of Sergt. McCoy of Troop B, and Sergt. Letke of Troop D, who rode new horses that have received very little training, as yet and required the greatest amount of horsemanship to manage. It took considerable nerve to take these horses over the wicked looking jumps that they had never before seen.

The senior judges were Capt. W. C. Short and Capt. Douglas McCaskey. The judges at the jumps were Lieuts. W. S. Martin, S. W. Scofield, R. G. Cullum and R. L. Gaultier.

Saturday evening the non-commissioned officers of Troop B entertained the other non-commissioned officers of the squadron at a speaker which proved a source of much enjoyment for all.

Russian Ride Course Almost Complete.
The three-mile obstacle ride for the officers of the 4th Cavalry and 1st Field Artillery will probably take place about December 15 and the course will probably be completed tomorrow.

The course this year is a spiral which winds around the steeplechase course and includes some of the steeplechase jumps. The finish is on the flat track and will give an opportunity to make up time if any is lost on the jumps.

The jumps are going to be more permanent in their character than heretofore, the posts being set in concrete and the material used the very best. With the exception of the sanding jump, they will probably last for several years.

The course includes three ditch jumps and six overground jumps, all three feet high. Three are hedges, one a fence and two are stone walls. Capt. P. D. Olanford, 1st Field Artillery, and 1st Lieut. E. M. Whitman, 4th Cavalry, have charge of building the jumps and at the same time are putting the steeplechase course in order for another race meet to be held sometime in the near future.

The obstacle ride, or Russian ride as it is commonly called, must be made by all the officers of the two mounted regiments. They must ride their personal mounts, and if they do not, they must give a satisfactory explanation in writing as to why their mounts are not in condition to take the ride.

The ride is not difficult for an officer who rides every day and who makes any effort to train his mount and keep him in condition. The three miles must be made in less than nine minutes, and in not more than 11 minutes. This means a gallop a little faster than the manufacturing gallop.

Before a large crowd of enlisted men and town people Lieut. Lyman's 2nd Infantry football team added another victory to this year's list when they defeated the Coast Artillery eleven yesterday afternoon at Moffitt Field by a score of 17 to 3. The Shafter club played the same power of attack that was noticeable in the game with the 1st Infantry and the men of the regiment are banking on their team winning from the National Guard organization.

Both teams played the open game to a great extent, working the forward pass on many occasions. Fumbling was in evidence on many occasions, but this is to be expected as the players have not had the practice that the interscholastic teams have and the class of football is not to be expected. In line plunges, however, the teams outlasted the players from the school league as the line is unusually heavy in most cases.

The Shafter team has improved on getting away with the ball, and the shifts worked better than in their first game. Their playing of yesterday proves that they have taken advantage of coaching. The Shafter team started the ball rolling by going through the opposing line for a touchdown in the first period. In the same quarter the Shafter eleven scored another three points on a place kick.

In the second period the Shafter team scored a safety, and the Coast Artillery worked the ball up to the 25 yard line where they kicked a drop kick. The Shafter team added another touchdown in the third quarter, but in the last period both teams were playing steady ball and neither side could cross the goal line. Dr. Fegen refereed the game to the satisfaction of all concerned.

GUY NICKALLS GOES TO ENGLAND FOR SHORT STAY
NEW YORK—Guy Nickalls, English coach of the Yale crew, left for Liverpool on the steamship St. Louis. Nickalls said that although he was keenly disappointed with the result of the Yale-Columbia race, he did not believe Yale would have won even though the accident to Coombs had not happened. He added that he expected to be abroad only a few weeks and will return for a continuation of his work with the Yale crew.

Rogan's powerful arm came near turning Moriama's attempt at a sacrifice into a double play in the sixth frame. He nailed Kekoa at second in one of the prettiest plays of the game.

Why couldn't Kekoa hit the ball when there were two men on and two out in the ninth? Ask "Chief" Waterhouse.
